THE MAYOR'S ORDERS.

Mayor Parsons has two official notices in the paper this morning which call for attention from citizens generally. One of them relates to cleaning up and the other is a gentle hint that the delivery of goods on Sundays be confined to the early morning hours. Both of these suggestions will doubtless be followed by all whom they concern.

Generally speaking, the people of Cairo are as law-abiding as are the people of most other cities and probably the only reason why there has been more carelessness here in the use of the sidewalks and streets is that the city authorities have for years been uniformly lax in restraining the evil. One by one and little by little citizens have grown in the habit of using the streets and sidewalks improperly, until their convenient misuse has come to be regarded, in many cases, as a necessity. The change of attitude on the part of those in authority, if persisted in, will soon bring about permanent improvement and when people have adjusted themselves to the new order of things they will wonder how and why they ever did otherwise.

In respect to a quieter Sunday the mayor also deserves to be sustained. It should not be impossible for all deliveries of merchandise to be made before 9 o'clock in the morning on that day.

CRITICISING US POOR MEN.

With respect to Mrs. Amarala Martin's criticism of some of Cairo's men-folk, which appeared in a Chicago paper recently and was reproduced in yesterday's Bulletin, it will have to be confessed that, on the whole, and to use a parliamentary expression, her "points" were "well taken."

It is not altogether out of order, perhaps, to protest against the inference that may be drawn in Chicago, from Mrs. Martin's complaint, that there are any considerable number of men in Cairo who endorse harshness to women, either in word or in deed. It would seem that ample negative evidence has been given of this on various occasions; and even on the occasion complained of, the protest made by the ladies, while not heeded, was received with due respect by a large majority of the city council.

Probably Mrs. Martin's strongest point is that if women could vote their wishes in public affairs would be given more heed by those in authority. This can hardly be gainsaid, although they would, in that event, always have to show that their wishes were in harmony with those of the "voting majority," and they might at times, miss the respectful consideration now accorded to them because of the common feeling that they are the "weaker vessel."

Mark the words, "voting majority," used in this connection. There's a great difference between a mere "majority of the voters" and a "voting majority." The former may be much the stronger in point of numbers, but the latter is always the one that is "counted," the former may be much the better in point of character, but the latter always has the "bulge" on the political situation; the former may do—generally does—the talking, but the latter always "does the business," "delivers the goods" and gets paid for them.

And this brings us within hailing distance of two objections that have always been urged against woman suffrage, viz: That there is but a very limited demand for it among women themselves and that, generally speaking, where it has been granted it has been used very much as men use their suffrage—it has been given over into the keeping of the lower classes, with the result that it has proven to be anything but an elevating influence for the ballot.

Nevertheless it is probably safe to say that whenever and wherever the good women shall make a united and earnest demand for the ballot, with half an assurance that they will show as much and as lasting an interest in it as they do in their new Easter bonnet, it will be gladly granted to them. It certainly should be.

ENTRY OF LANNS

Of Crow Indian Reservation—Registration Places Named By the Land Office.

Washington, May 24.—In accordance with a proclamation of the president relating to the settlement and entry of one million acres of the Crow Indian reservation of Montana, the commissioner general of the land office announced that registration of applicants will be held at Miles City, and Billings, Mont., and Sheridan, Wyo., commencing June 14 and ending June 28, 1906. The drawings at Billings will commence July 2. Soldiers or sailors who served at least ninety days in the army during the Civil or Spanish-American war or the Philippine insurrection may register by agent who has a duly executed power of attorney. No person can act as agent for more than one soldier.

READY TO POUNCE ON JAIL.

Bloomington, Ind., May 24.—A mob is tonight threatening an attack upon the jail in which is confined Robert Williams, a negro charged with the murder of Mr. Golins, an Indianapolis Southern Construction foreman. The sheriff has a number of armed deputies inside the jail and the Terre Haute militia is under arms ready to respond to a call for assistance.

AN ABSCONDING TELLER.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 24.—The Matschall and Hsley bank tonight issued a statement announcing the absconding of Receiving Teller Arthur George Reuke. The statement says: "Officers of the bank after a careful examination of his accounts found a shortage of $14,000, the greater part of which has been taken recently. Reuke has disappeared from the city."

REPUDIATES CONFESSION.

Akron, Ohio, May 24.—Diebel, the alleged murderer of Minnie Brendt, said at his hearing today: "I must have been crazy if I made any confession. I did not kill the girl." He was held without bail to the grand jury. Henry McMahon, the hired man who found the girl's body in the hay mow on the Diebel farm, appeared to be an unwilling witness and was held under $300 bond.

UNCLE SAM TO PROTECT.

Washington, D. C., May 24.—Upon Minister Rockhill's report to the effect that he had not succeeded in obtaining a satisfactory assurance from the Chinese government as to the recent order relative to the assumption by natives of the control of customs, he has been instructed to join the British and German representatives at Peking in an energetic protest against the proposed change.

LYNCHING AVERTED.

Wichita, Kas., May 24.—To avoid the possible lynching of three negroes "Bud" Gibbs, Leonard King and Peter Dunn, they were hastily removed from the police station this afternoon to the county jail and placed under a strong guard. The negroes were arrested on the charge of robbing and probably mortally beating William Sutton, a grocer.

CELEBRATE EMPIRE DAY.

London, May 24.—Empire Day was celebrated today in London and throughout Great Britain. In some cases religious were carried out on an elaborate scale. Disputes from various parts of the empire indicate there was the greatest enthusiasm. All British embassies and legations celebrated the occasion.

PLUM RUN MINE STARTS.

Steubenville, Ohio, May 24.—The Plum Run Mines started today with 425 non-union men. Men were escorted to the mines by armed guards. They were kept at cleaning up the mines today and coal is expected to be mined tomorrow. No disorder today.

LYNCHED BY A MOB.

Columbus, Miss., May 24.—George Vonner, a negro, who shot and killed Doctor, a well-known citizen, on last Sunday while the latter, as a member of a posse, was en route to effect the negro's arrest, was taken from the jail at this place last night by a mob and lynched.

Perfect Sleep

Points to the Cause

How many women are troubled with insomnia! How few, alas, habitually sleep the night through and rise refreshed.

If you can't sleep it is because your nerves will not let your body rest. Women's nervous troubles come from female diseases. Their delicate organism is a network of intricate nerves. No woman can suffer from female irregularities without eventually ruining her nervous system. Get rid of female disease and the perfect sleep of childhood will return.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

cures all female troubles and restores nerve equilibrium and brings sound, restful, healthful, natural sleep. Thus does this wonderful remedy operate to bring health to suffering women.

Wakefulness and Nervousness Cured

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Last spring, I lost my appetite, had headaches, and bearing down pains with cramps so that I was in perfect misery. I became wakeful and extremely nervous.
I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and am pleased to state that I derived immediate benefit and soon enjoyed permanent relief.
Within eight weeks I was restored to normal health and felt refreshed and strengthened as though I had enjoyed a lengthy vacation.
Since that time I have recommended your Compound to a number of my lady friends suffering with female irregularities, and those who have used it report great benefit from its use.

THE BETTER THE PEOPLE

Of Cairo know this store, the more firmly convinced are they of its worth. There are no premiums offered to induce patronage. We make no discounts nor allow commissions to anyone because we know we can give BETTER VALUES by not doing so. Notwithstanding the liberal patronage we enjoy, for the benefit of those, we repeat, THIS IS A MODERN STORE, A STORE OF THE PRESENT—up-to-date in every particular; aggressive and active, selling none but MADE-TO-MEASURE CLOTHING AND MEN'S OUTFITTERS of the highest character—a store where one can RELY upon always getting his moneys worth or money back.

FREE ALCOHOL BILL.

Washington, May 24.—The senate today passed the free alcohol bill reported from the committee on finance. The bill has already passed the house and the amendments which the senate adopted do not materially change its scope. It does not go into effect until January 1, 1907.

NO AGREEMENT YET.

Springfield, Ill., May 24.—No agreement has yet been reached in the coal situation and while the operators are remaining firm on several important points, it is believed that eventually a settlement of the differences with the miners will be reached.

TWO SWEEPING BILLS.

St. Petersburg, May 24.—The constitutional Democrats will introduce in the lower house of parliament two sweeping bills establishing the complete freedom of religion and conscience and the tolerance of all creeds.

Dr. J. H. Smith, Richmond, Ind., Nov. 8, 1905.
Dr. J. H. Smith. The clearly evident in whom I am so much interested was recently one who had been the victim of "eczema," and had been treated by many of the best physicians, but without success. He was suffering from the disease in the form of a severe itching and burning eruption, which was very painful and had been the cause of much suffering. He had been told that he would never be cured, but he had heard of "Zemo" and had decided to try it. He had been using it for some time and had found it to be a most effective remedy. He had been cured of his disease and was now well and happy. He had been cured of his disease and was now well and happy. He had been cured of his disease and was now well and happy.

SCRAPPY GOSSIP FROM TWO PUGILISTS

FIGHT TALK FROM NELSON AND HERRERA SCHEDULED TO MEET TONIGHT.

STRENUOUS CAMPAIGN

Mapped Out By the Mexican While the Battling One Doesn't Credit Him With the Wallop.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 24.—"Set the pace and make the fighting from the sound of the gong. If an opening shows in the first round, a knockout—and if it doesn't show in the first round—whenver it does. That is the way I am going to fight Nelson Friday night."

In the above words Aurelio Herrera, championship aspirant, gave the first intimation that he had formed a definite plan of action in the coming fight. Herrera does not talk of himself readily, and it was only after some urging that he said this much about his plans.

Herrera's work today—the last boxing he will do before entering the ring—was light. One particular feature stood out noticeably. He was always landing heavy body blows on Melvane and Jacobs. He hit them when and where he pleased on the body. He did not try much at the head—just enough to keep his mates wondering.

It was evident from the way in which he went after the body that he intends using some of that style of fighting against Nelson if he finds that his right does not put the Dane out early in the game. And the blows he aimed at the heads of his sparring partners gave an inkling of the way he intends to end the fight sooner or later.

In other words if a few blows on the jaw fail to put Nelson into dreamland the champion will probably have to stand up and face a determined effort to wear him out.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 24.—Many a fighter treasures recollections of the hardest punch he ever received and is quite ready to give all kinds of credit to the man who delivered it. Jim Jeffries says he got his from Joe Choynski. Bob Fitzsimmons has told again and again that Peter Maher gave him the hardest thump of his career. Jim Corbett says the worst blow he ever received was from Jim Jeffries. Tom Sharkey is an exception to this rule. The sailor's stubborn pride will not allow him to admit that there ever was a man in his business who could hurt him.

Battling Nelson also remembers the hardest punch he ever happened across. For a year or two past the Dane has been advertising Aurelio Herrera as the most vicious "miller" in the lightweight class. Now, however, that every one else is talking of Herrera's wallop, Bat is beginning to think that the thing is overestimated. No doubt the volume of talk just now on the chances of Nelson falling a victim to the Mexican's punching powers has set Bat to thinking and has made him stop romancing entirely.

"They say that he is an awful puncher, and that I am easy to hit," said Nelson today. "Why didn't he lick me before then? He landed on me often enough, and, for that matter, so has everybody I have ever fought. He certainly knocked me down in the fight at Butte, but it was a freak punch—one that landed squarely on top of my head. He hit me dozens of times after that, and I never was hurt. I am a fighter, and I am not afraid of any man. I am a fighter, and I am not afraid of any man. I am a fighter, and I am not afraid of any man."

"Another thing, he was at his best in Butte, and I was only in fair condition. It is the other way around now. I don't believe Herrera is as good as he was then, and I know that I am in better fix than I was in Butte. There is some talk as to the kind of fight he will make. They say he will go at me from the first tap. I certainly hope he will, and to be frank about it, I believe he will. I think those who see the match will have an exciting time of it."

Nelson weighed at the conclusion of his afternoon's work at Baldwin's ranch today. The machine showed 121 pounds.

As for his looks, he seems to appear exactly the same on the eve of every fight. He is deceptive in this respect, as a good many who sized him up as being weak and weedy before his open air affair with Britt know to their cost.

Bat is a weather worn nut and when he tussles his hair and knits his eyes, he looks like a shipwrecked mariner who has been living on grass roots and dewdrops. His work shows that he is strong as a little bull and as tough as whalebone.

Nelson is not a showy worker. The skipping rope gets tangled with his feet and his punching bag rolls over his wrist. It is only at boxing that he is thoroughly at home, and his best piece of work this afternoon was a four round spell with Harry Baker, one of the Olympic club's champions. Nelson is certainly fit as a fiddle, and should put up a great battle.

To have your advertisement read by the greatest number of people it must appear in The Bulletin.
